MESSAGE FROM THE BOARD

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIR OF THE POLICE SERVICES BOARD

The year 2011 marked the first year of the new Business Plan for the Durham Regional Police Service. The 2011-13 Plan builds upon the foundation established under the direction of the previous Plan, to position the Police Service to become a more problem-oriented police service focused on the root causes of crime. Under the leadership of Chief Ewles, the Service continues to make progress toward this important organizational goal in partnership with our citizens and communities.

The Board is especially encouraged that overall crime reporting continues to decline across the Region, thanks in large part to prevention and enforcement initiatives of the members of our Police Service. These achievements were realized by working in collaboration with government partners, local agencies, businesses, school boards, and citizen groups representing the diverse populations of our Region.

Ensuring the efficient use of resources was a key priority for the Board in 2011 and the Police Service met the challenge. Through the introduction of a new shift to match peak work times and through the redistribution of some frontline resources, the Service succeeded in meeting this objective. The Board was also pleased that the Service implemented real-time electronic transmission of fingerprints to the RCMP for criminal background checks. This initiative has significantly accelerated the process for routine checks, resulting in shorter wait times.

Meanwhile, the Board worked closely with the Chief and the leadership team to plan for the future. A new firearms range, a new Communications/911 Centre, a new divisional building in Clarington and a new forensic identification building were all addressed in our capital program. As these buildings come on line in the coming years, they will improve the efficiency of our frontline operations.

As we look to the future, the Board will continue to drive accountability for ongoing performance success so that our citizens can enjoy the safest community in which to live, work and play at an affordable cost.

MESSAGE FROM THE CHIEF CONSTABLE

One of the ongoing challenges all police services face is ageing infrastructure and technology, and Durham Region is no exception.

Although new divisional buildings came on stream in North Durham (2001) and in Whitby (2004), and we relocated our headquarters operation in 2005, other significant capital challenges remain.

We made significant strides in addressing these infrastructure needs in 2011, thanks to the hard work of our Business Services Unit and the ongoing financial support of the Board and Regional Council.

Construction began on our new Operations Training Centre in 2011, located directly north of our Whitby division. This 47,000 sq. ft. building will house our very first firing range and a much-needed Regional Communications/911 Centre.

As well, the Board approved plans for a new $46 million capital program in Clarington that will see a new divisional building and forensic identification building. We also launched a multi-agency team to begin research on a common radio communications platform to replace the ageing infrastructure currently being used by police, fire and other emergency services in Durham Region.

2011 was, once again, an incredible year for investigations, topped off by the announcement late in the year that we were ranked #1 across Canada in terms of our ability to solve the more serious crimes. Our hard-working and dedicated employees continue to do an outstanding job keeping our communities safe. We continue to plan ahead to ensure they have the right resources to do the job.

MEETING THE BOARD'S TARGETS

In 2011, the Board refocused its ends policies to reflect more directly the principles of policing stated in section one of the Police Services Act. This section states the following:

Police services shall be provided throughout Ontario in accordance with the following principles:

1. The need to ensure the safety and security of all persons and property in Ontario.
2. The importance of safeguarding the fundamental rights guaranteed by the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms and the Human Rights Code.
3. The need for co-operation between the providers of police services and the communities they serve.
4. The importance of respect for victims of crime and understanding of their needs.
5. The need for sensitivity to the pluralistic, multiracial and multicultural character of Ontario society.
6. The need to ensure that police forces are representative of the communities they serve.

These principles are now clearly expressed in the Board's policies, and the Police Service reports its performance against these broad objectives to the Board on an annual basis.

In 2011, the Durham Regional Police succeeded in meeting the objectives of the Police Services Board as identified in the Board's policies.

Perhaps the most notable achievement was Durham Regional Police's ranking first across Canada in Statistics Canada's Weighted Crime Clearance Rate. That's the third year in a row Durham Region received national recognition for being one of the most effective in this standing. This new measurement tool focuses on a police service's ability to solve the most serious crimes, such as sexual assault, aggravated assault and murder.

As well, the DRPS was ranked well in virtually every operational measurement identified by the Board among comparator communities. For example, the most recent statistics reveal that the Durham Regional Police Service ranked 1st in the overall clearance rate, 3rd best on the Crime Severity Index, and 4th on the overall crime rate.

The Service also improved its response time to emergencies in 2011, getting to the call within 8 minutes 61% of the time, up from 59% in 2010.

In terms of value for the dollar, the per capita cost of policing in Durham Region was ranked 4th among comparator communities at $241 per citizen for 2011. Once again, this clearly shows the men and women of the DRPS are achieving excellent results at a competitive cost.

The Police Service also met the Board's expectations to engage the community in forging and maintaining partnerships to advance safety in Durham Region. Through programs such as the Mental Health Pre-Charge Diversion program and the Whitby After School Program, the Durham Regional Police pursued innovative strategies that address the origins of community safety problems while working collaboratively with organizations that share responsibility for producing healthy, safe communities.

The Durham Regional Police Service also continued to embrace diversity in its internal practices and external service delivery, recognizing that we must reflect the composition of the communities we serve and demonstrate respect for their pluralistic character. Through education, outreach initiatives, and improving internal processes, the Police Service emphasized its ongoing commitment to inclusivity. The Police Service also continued its excellent support for victims in 2011, assisting in 4578 incidents, compared to 4134 in 2010.

COMMUNITY SAFETY PRIORITIES

When we consult with the public, most community safety issues raised fall into four main categories: Youth Safety; Roadway Safety; Violence Against/Exploitation of Persons; and Property Crime.

Our proactive problem-solving approach is making a difference and we achieved many success in these four areas in 2011:

Youth Safety

Reaching out to young people from challenged neighbourhoods or those in conflict with the law helps build bridges with police officers.

Through programs like the Chief's 3 on 3 Basketball Tournament in April, outdoor wilderness adventures in Algonquin Park and other youth outreach initiatives, we built more bridges with the community in 2011.

Our dedicated team of elementary and high school liaison officers work directly with children in classrooms across Durham Region every day, talking to them about bullying, respecting others and the dangers of drugs. An additional 12,000 students received message about safety at the Kids' Safety Village in Whitby.

For some teenagers, the lengthy court process is often counterproductive for their rehabilitation. That's why we invest heavily in youth intervention strategies for less serious crimes, including diversion from traditional court to a more timely and victim-focused approach. In 2011, we diverted 562 less serious offenders away from the traditional court system.

Of that total, 123 young people engaged in the restorative justice program through Eastview Boys and Girls' Club. The young person met with the victim in a supervised setting and learned first-hand about the repercussions of their actions. Seventy-seven youths were placed in anger management programs through the John Howard Society, 172 were provided with drug addiction counselling through Pinewood and 177 took anti-theft programs through the John Howard Society.

Thanks to our annual Youth In Policing Initiative, Durham Regional Police has 54 new leaders in our communities.

Funded in part by the Ministry of Children and Youth Services, 2011 marked the sixth year DRPS has been able to run the program allowing us to make a difference in the lives of teenagers in Durham Region.

Throughout the summer the students learned about policing by visiting various police units, completed conflict resolution training, mentored children through a leadership camp and a youth club, fundraised to purchase backpacks for students in need and experienced firsthand what officers have to go through in regards to training scenarios.

One event that sets our initiative apart is our annual Ripple Effect Youth Forum. The forum is based on the belief that just as one drop of water can cause a ripple; one person can make a difference and inspire change for many.

More than 340 students from various police services across Ontario gathered to participate in workshops and listen to inspirational stories from leaders in various industries.

During their graduation ceremony, many of the students spoke about their time at DRP and how much they have grown as leaders.

They were eager to share their new found knowledge and communication skills in their schools and community.

Roadway Safety

North American roads are among the safest in the world. Our citizens are five times more likely to visit hospital because of a fall than a motor vehicle collision, for example.

Still, there are 27 motor vehicle collisions on roads patrolled by the DRPS every day. From minor scrapes to multi-car collisions, your life could be changed forever by a collision.

The number of collisions involving injury remained the same in 2011, but the number of fatalities and the volume of non-injury collisions went down dramatically. There were 12 fewer motor vehicle deaths (non-medical) in 2011 and the incidents of property-damage collision dropped 5.3 per cent.

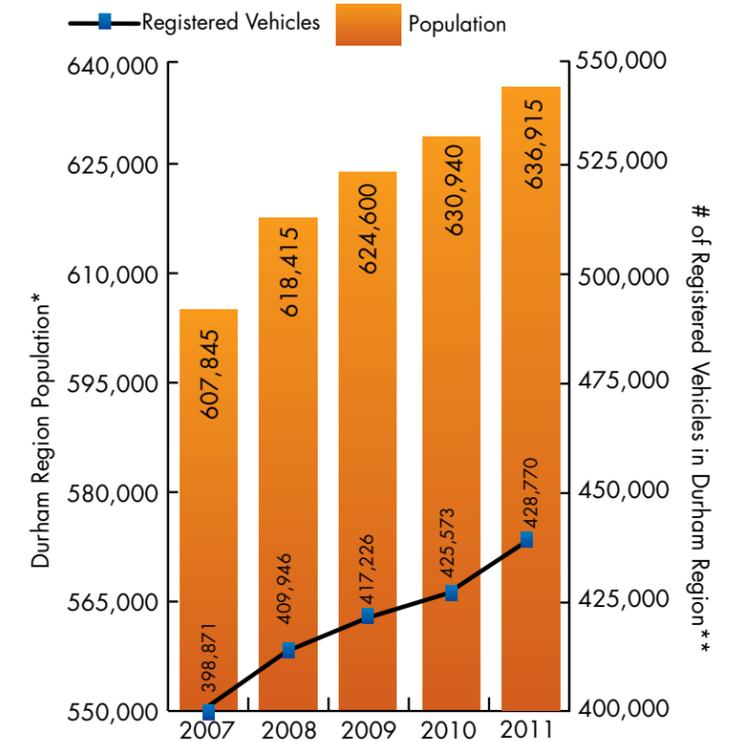

After seeing a disturbing increase in the number of impaired driving incidents in 2010, the trend headed lower in 2011, down 6.9 per cent. A year-long R.I.D.E. program helped put pressure on these motorists and a concentrated push during Christmas time paid dividends. Despite an intensive media and public education campaign, an incredible 158 drunk drivers were caught by our Festive R.I.D.E. campaign. Although that is widely reported as a discouraging number by the media, it is a tribute to the intelligence-led approach of our Traffic Services Branch, who analyzed data from the year before and strategically located officers in the right place at the right time.

The number of Highway Traffic Act Offence Notices (mostly speeding tickets) issued was 44,651 – that's 122 every day. These tickets are designed to change driver behaviour as each speeding ticket is delivered with a roadside discussion about the seriousness of the offence.

In order to assist motorists deal with minor collisions more conveniently and safely, the Collision Reporting Centre (CRC) in Whitby processed 5,648 incidents involving 9,692 drivers. Instead of waiting for officers to arrive, motorists involved in minor collisions can exchange information and take their vehicles to this centralized reporting centre, where experts are located to assist them process the paperwork. The CRC saved us about 8,500 frontline patrol hours in 2011.

Another interesting trend continued in 2011 – the number of motorists caught driving while disqualified or with suspended licenses. There were 1,121 incidents in 2011, up substantially from the 938 incidents in 2010 and the 569 incidents in 2009. This trend may be rooted in the rising cost of auto insurance.

Annual truck safety inspections help ensure the big rigs are road worthy and safe.

Violence Against/Exploitation of Persons

Although Crimes Against Persons are generally declining in North America as populations age, violent incidents continue to capture the public's attention and impact on feelings of safety.

Crimes Against Persons dropped 4.1 per cent in 2011 to 5,415 incidents as there were fewer sexual assaults, threatening incidents and robberies. However, the number of harassing phone calls actually increased 21.3 per cent to 671 incidents and we investigated more Internet luring incidents involving children. There were two homicides in 2011, down from seven the previous year.

Elder abuse is a growing problem in our communities and DRPS is working to eliminate the financial, physical and emotional abuse many older people are facing, often at the hands of their own family members. Our Senior Support Co-ordinator worked closely with the Durham Elder Abuse Network (DEAN) and Law Enforcement Agencies Protecting Seniors (LEAPS) to help seniors protect themselves.

Helping victims of crime is a top priority and our Victim Support Unit led the way, following up with victims in 4,578 incidents. Of these incidents, 3,655 referrals were made to community partners for further assistance, such as the John Howard Society, Children's Aid Society, Catholic Family Services, mental health services and shelters. Unfortunately, the problem of domestic violence continues to increase. There were 4,406 reported incidents in Durham Region in 2006 and 4,947 in 2011. Our Domestic Violence Bail Unit remained very active, making 936 domestic violence arrests where the accused was held for a bail hearing. On average, there are 13 incidents of domestic violence every day reported in Durham Region. We remain an active member of the Durham Region Intimate-relationship Violence Empowerment Network (DRIVEN), a community-led initiative to provide victims of intimate-relationship violence with easier access to support services, as well as the Violence Prevention Coordinating Council (VPCC).

In 2011, the DRPS provided 12,071 prosecutorial briefs to the local Crown Attorney's Office to assist with the successful prosecution of cases. Each brief constitutes a referral to the Ministry of the Attorney General's Victim Witness Assistance Program.

Responding to calls involving mental health remains a daily challenge for police services across Canada.

The kind of specialized training and knowledge required is available to DRPS officers thanks to an innovative partnership with Durham Mental Health Services (DMHS) and Ontario Shores.

With funding from the Ministry of Health and Long-Term Care through DMHS, a specialized Mental Health Response Unit (MHSU) brings together frontline officers and nurses specializing in mental health care.

They respond to police officers' requests for assistance with situations that require skilled mental health interventions. They work to both resolve the immediate situation, and then make sure the person who is experiencing a mental health challenge is given the help he or she needs.

In 2011, these teams reviewed 2,709 reports and attended 596 incidents. They also consulted with frontline officers via the telephone in 344 incidents.

Starting in late 2009, an Adult Pre-Charge Mental Health Diversion program in partnership with DMHS and the Crown Attorney's office has also paid dividends. Each year, approximately 500 people are diverted from the traditional court system and given the service they need due to their illness.

Property Crimes

When your car is broken into, it negatively affects your feeling of safety. For police, it's much more than a nuisance; it's a property crime that affects your quality of life. There were 16,194 reported incidents of Property Crime in 2011, ranging from break and enters to theft, and each one affected a person or a family in a negative way.

Property crimes have been gradually decreasing in Durham Region since 2008 – a trend seen across Ontario and even Canada. In 2011, they dropped an impressive 7.8 per cent, mainly due to a reduction in reported Break and Enters, Theft From Motor Vehicles and Shoplifting.

Incidents of Break and Enter were down 10.5 per cent in 2011 to 1,671 incidents and Thefts From Motor Vehicles were down 13.9 per cent to 2,550 incidents. Shoplifting declined 14 per cent in 2011 to 1,432 incidents after a sharp increase experienced the year before (shoplifting rose 11.2 per cent from 2009 to 2010). One Property Crime indicator that rose was Fraud, which was up 1.5 per cent in 2011, to 1,673 incidents.

Protecting our most vulnerable citizens remains a top priority. Seniors in Clarington were relieved after investigators arrested a Bowmanville man for a string of break and enters. Seniors were targeted and the accused presented himself at their front door, faking a story about experiencing car trouble. While the senior went to get the phone, the suspect would grab items of value. East Division launched an investigation and an arrest was eventually made, which cleared 11 separate incidents.

Taking the Profit Out of Crime

One very useful tool given to police is the ability to seize assets associated with criminals. This property – including cash, motor vehicles and houses – is held until the outcome of court cases.

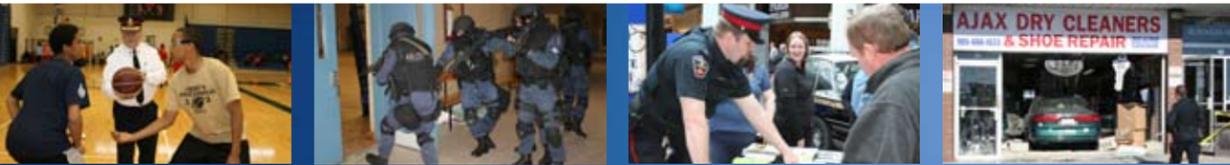

Durham Regional Police continue to be leaders in Ontario in terms of using this legislation, through our Criminal Intelligence Branch. The amount of residential property seized or restrained under asset forfeiture law in Durham Region equalled $2.7 million in 2011. The DRPS also seized $624,440 in vehicles, over $760,000 in Canadian currency and over $111,000 in American currency. We have seized or restrained about $24 million in the past four years.

If supported by court decision, these funds go into an account controlled by the Province of Ontario. Police services across Ontario can apply to use these funds to fight more crime. In 2011, the DRPS received $268,000 in funding

Our E-Crimes Unit received $153,000 to fund the creation of a second Child Victim Forensic Analyst. Our Criminal Intelligence Unit received $115,000 for equipment, training and learning opportunities.

2011: SIGNIFICANT EVENTS

Cocaine and Chemical Drugs

The buying and selling of crack cocaine and chemical drugs remained a concern in Durham Region and a new party drug – mephedrone – was seized for the first time.

Our Drug Enforcement Unit targeted cocaine and chemical drugs in Project Shrike. They uncovered a drug network operating throughout the Greater Toronto Area (GTA) and eventually arrested 19 people, laying 115 charges as 18 warrants were executed on February 10, 2011. Over $1 million in drugs and $400,000 in cash were seized. For the first time, we seized mephedrone, a chemical compound used as a party drug on the club scene.

Growing out of the intelligence gleaned in Shrike, Project Gladiator was the follow up sweep, with the focus this time on methamphetamine. The suppliers were identified in York Region and the YRPS was brought in as an investigative partner. The results were impressive: 34 arrests, 102 charges and $250,000 in drugs and cash seized.

Combined, the Drug Enforcement Unit and the Guns and Gangs Enforcement Unit seized $16.8 million in street drugs in 2011. Although the total volume of marihuana was down, there were sizeable increases in cocaine, Methamphetamine, Ketamine, MDMA powder, opium and methadol tablets.

Officers Recognized Nationally

Two of our police officers received national recognition in 2011.

DRPS Detective Constable Jay Shaddick was honoured at the 106th annual Canadian Association of Chiefs of Police conference in Windsor with the Canadian Banks' Law Enforcement Award (CBLEA) for his work on a major ABM tampering case in Durham Region.

His perseverance and commitment led to the apprehension of a well-organized group of internationally-connected criminals and the largest seizure of ABM tampering devices in Durham Region history. The potential losses to banks was in the millions of dollars.

D/Cst. Jay Shaddick

Detective Constable Dave Ashfield of Traffic Services was presented with the Terry Ryan Memorial Award for Excellence in Police Services by MADD Canada. The award is presented to officers who work tirelessly in their communities to stop impaired driving and to support victims of this violent crime.

He was recognized for his work in coordinating the 2010 Festive R.I.D.E. campaign, during which over 10,000 vehicles were stopped and 292 impaired charges and roadside suspensions were laid.

D/Cst. Dave Ashfield, second from right, received the 2011 MADD Canada Award for Excellence.

Mosquito Stings Marihuana Growers Again

For a second year in a row, the Criminal Intelligence Unit disrupted outdoor marihuana growing operations in Durham Region by targeting those responsible.

Project Mosquito II followed on successful template created in the fall of 2010 and resulted in 32 arrests, the seizure of 11 firearms and the eradication of $8 million in plants.

Members of the Drug Enforcement Unit, with support from uniform Divisional officers, identified and investigated marihuana grows in each municipality. With the assistance of our helicopter, Air 1 and through other investigative avenues, a total of 47 outdoor and eight indoor grows were discovered.

Investigators confirmed that the outdoor plants were all started indoors during the winter and were then transplanted outdoors in the spring, so they could continue growth in a non-incriminating location. Corn fields are a favoured location, as farmers with large tracts of land would not even be aware of the illegal activity in their fields.

Diversity Strategic Plan

Consultations took place early in the year to fine tune our Diversity Strategic Plan, our blueprint for the delivery of programs and service in the coming years.

The DRPS is committed to diversifying its workforce so that it better reflects the community it services. Ongoing efforts in recruiting and promotion have paid dividends as more young people from a wide cross section of our community begin thinking of policing as a legitimate career option.

The 2011-2013 Diversity Strategic Plan was completed early in the year and is available for review on our website www.drps.ca.

National Recognition for Solving Serious Crimes

For the third year in a row, the Durham Regional Police Service was recognized nationally for its ability to solve the more serious crimes.

In Statistics Canada's Police Resources in Canada 2011, Durham Regional Police ranked first overall in Canada with a weighted crime clearance rate of 47.6. It's a new measurement indicating how well police services solve the more serious crimes, such as homicides, robberies or break and enters.

In communities with a population over 100,000, the DRPS was ranked #1 in Canada. In the two years previous to this, we were ranked #2 across Canada – the only police service to maintain this very high level of excellence.

Chief Mike Ewles credits the dedication and hard work of frontline officers and investigators, as well as the Service's commitment to problem-solving and statistical analysis.

"To be ranked #1 or #2 three years in a row is a significant accomplishment," he says, "There are many outstanding police services in the country and we have stayed at the top of the class."

To establish the weighted clearance rates, Statistics Canada took the number of incidents and gave them different weights based on the severity. For example, murder carries more weight than theft under $5,000. The weighted number of crimes cleared is divided by the weighted number of total crime.

Chief for a Day

Nine-year-old Owen Laurie sat in the "big chair" as Chief for a Day after winning a community essay writing contest.

The St. Paul's Catholic School student was sworn into office on Oct. 18 at Regional Headquarters, complete with custom-made police uniform, gloves and hat.

Chief Owen was picked up at and escorted from his school to Regional Headquarters for the Change of Command ceremony, with proud parents and friends looking on. In the crowded boardroom, Chief Owen thanked everyone for the great opportunity and said he was excited to get to work!

Chief Owen had a busy day as he visited various police units including the Forensic Identification Unit, the Central Cellblock, Communications and the Police Learning Centre. He also had the opportunity to inspect the DRPS motorcycles and the marine unit's Zodiac boat. He completed his day with a ride in the police helicopter Air 1.

Our Chief for a Day completed his duties by reading his essay to a sold-out crowd of over 600 people on Oct. 20 during the 9th Annual Police Appreciation Dinner and Awards Night.

Reaching Out to People of All Ages

The ProAction Cops and Kids program funds outreach activities that build bridges between police officers and youth. The goal is to create an environment of mutual understanding and respect.

In July, 11 youth from across the region joined four police officers for a ProAction Cops and Kids wilderness canoe excursion at Algonquin Provincial Park.

The four-day Durham Wilderness Adventure program had the youths challenging approximately 50 kms of canoe and portaging trails. In preparation for the trip they completed one day of team building exercises and one day of canoe training. Upon completion, the students received entry level certification through the Ontario Recreational Canoe and Kayak Association (ORCKA). The group then embarked on a four-day canoe trip through Algonquin Park, paddling throughout the interior and setting up for three nights at different campsites.

The trip was a huge success with the entire group experiencing the challenging and pristine features of the Algonquin wilderness. The Durham Wilderness Adventure program is one of two annual outdoor wilderness adventure excursions run by the Durham Regional Police Service. A three-day white water rafting trip on the Ottawa River takes place in the spring.

Police officers reach out to young people in a wide variety of ways. From organized fishing tournaments to coaching soccer and hockey teams, our police officers continue to show they have the compassion and understanding needed to make the community a better place.

At Christmastime, many seniors have no family left to spend the holidays with. Several officers from Oshawa wanted to change that and began visiting seniors' homes at Christmas time several years ago. They bring a warm smile, blankets and other gifts generously donated by local businesses. By serving tea and cookies and spend a few moments with the elderly, they come to understand that the community cares about them and wants them to enjoy the holiday season as well.

For over 20 years, officers organize a very special day for local children with special needs. The annual Children's Games treats these special people as Olympic athletes through a day of fun competitions and group participation. Held at a recreation centre generously donated for the day by the City of Pickering, the Children's Games brings a smile not only to the young athletes, but their parents, friends and our many volunteers.

Focus on Guns and Gangs

In 2011, the DRPS realigned the Criminal Intelligence Branch to form the new Guns and Gangs Enforcement Unit. Numerous successful investigations resulted in the execution of 67 search warrants, the seizure of 12 handguns, 50 rifles, 16 shotguns, three assault rifles and two stun guns. They also seized 13 replica handguns, arrested a total of 119 people and laid 395 charges.

Anonymous Tips

Durham Regional Crime Stoppers had a very busy year receiving and responding to tips from the public generated by media coverage. They submitted 587 reports in 2011, up from 491 in 2010.

Proactive Policing

Provincial funding made the successful Durham Region Anti-Violence Intervention Strategy (DRAVIS) continue in 2011 as uniformed officers proactively addressed gang and gun violence.

In 2011/12, DRAVIS officers made 508 arrests, laid 705 charges and issued 1,036 traffic tickets while keeping on eye on repeat offenders. They seized 48 firearms and conducted a total of 1,896 street checks. They also seized over $43,000 in illicit drugs.

DRAVIS officers use crime analysis on a region-wide level, incorporating Intelligence Unit reports and other information to keep track of known criminals. They also share information with their counterparts in Toronto to keep an eye on cross-jurisdictional issues.

Learning From Each Other

Police officers reached out to members of our growing multicultural community numerous times in 2011 to build stronger relationships and foster a better understanding between police and the people they serve.

We are proud partners on the multicultural outreach committees of both the City of Pickering and the Town of Ajax. We are also active members of the Local Diversity & Immigration Partnership Council (LDIPC), which represents agencies like local school boards, faith groups and citizens of the Region.

Our Chief Constable, Mike Ewles, employs the wisdom and advice of multicultural community leaders through the Diversity Advisory Committee (DAC). The Committee's primary role is to provide relevant and timely advice to the Durham Regional Police Service on issues related to diversity.

Officers also spent time visiting local places of worship to learn more about the beliefs and customs of local citizens.

BUSINESS PLAN

Every successful business has a long-term strategic plan and policing is no different. The DRP operates within a three-year planning cycle that guides us in achieving the statutory requirements of the Police Services Act and enhances our service level to a growing community.

After months of consultations both internally and externally, the Police Services Board, through our Strategic Planning Unit, developed our new Business Plan that will guide our approach to programs and services from 2011 to 2013.

The new plan maintains the Board's commitment to Problem-Oriented Policing and identifies three areas to assist with a full transition to this dynamic approach: organizational transition that aligns our business and operational processes; a focus on the root causes of problems in partnership with the community; and engaging our communities to become full and active partners in addressing safety issues.

The Business Plan will keep us accountable to making the best use of our resources. Efforts are now underway to ensure officers have the appropriate amount of time and the proper training to engage in more problem-solving activities. This approach to service delivery will help meet the increasing demands for policing by addressing the root causes of crime, eliminating or reducing recurring problems, and focusing more attention on crime prevention. The Plan identifies three priorities for the DRPS: Community Safety; Crime Prevention Through Law Enforcement and Organizational Excellence:

- Community Safety – includes the three main objectives of: maintaining or improving safety in public areas; increasing the protection of property and enhancing the sense of personal safety; and ensuring safe roads.

The DRPS reaches out for public input on a regular basis, including this public forum held in Clarington in 2011.

- Crime Prevention Through Law Enforcement – includes the three main objectives of: reducing violent crime through intelligence-led policing and community mobilization; managing high-risk offenders and issues related to at-risk youth and young offenders.
- Organizational Excellence – includes the three main objectives of having an inclusive workforce that promotes learning and values diversity; enhancing police service delivery and operational agility and accountability; and improving accessibility to police services.

Specific measurements of success are also clearly identified to ensure these strategic objectives are met and measured. The 2011-2013 Business Plan is available for downloading or viewing on our website: www.drps.ca

Public Complaints

The rate of public complaints received in 2010 increased, as expected, with the establishment of the Office of the Independent Review Director (OIPRD). With lodging a complaint easier than ever, and with the added reassurance the complaint would be seen by an independent agency, police services in Ontario experienced increases.

In 2011, there were 131 public complaints received, six more than the year before. This represents one public complaint for every 834 Calls for Service. Of the 131 complaints, 60 were dealt with by the OIPRD and four were investigated. The other complaints were investigated by the Professional Standards Unit.

The majority of complaints are quickly resolved or are found to be unsubstantiated or unfounded after initial investigation. In some instances, further follow up is required. If the complaint is found to have merit, the punishment for the Officer can range from a verbal reprimand to outright dismissal.

In most police services, the most frequent public complaints involve allegations of improper language, rudeness or poor attitude amongst police officers. Of the 131 complaints received in 2011, 10 involved allegations of Unlawful or Unnecessary Exercise of Authority, 45 involved allegations of Discreditable Conduct and 13 involved allegations of Neglect of Duty. In total, 24 were withdrawn, 29 were found to be unsubstantiated, and three were dealt with by way of informal resolution.

Electronic Control Device Use

Frontline supervisors are given Electronic Control Devices (commonly referred to by the brand name Taser) as a non-lethal option to deal with physically combative individuals. The use of the devices has steadily decreased over the past five years. In 2011, ECD's were deployed only 23 times and the weapon wasn't even discharged in 10 of these incidents – just the presence of the device de-escalated the situation. The 23 incidents is down substantially from the 30 experienced in 2010. Once again, there were no injuries reported.

The Special Investigations Unit

Every year, police officers across Ontario find themselves inevitably in life-threatening or dangerous situations while on duty. From Emotionally Disturbed Person calls to domestic incidents, police officers are trained in how to use various levels of force and how much force is appropriate.

In Ontario, when a person is seriously injured or killed during any police involvement, the Special Investigations Unit (S.I.U.) must be notified.

In 2011, the SIU invoked their mandate eight times, compared to the same number the year before. One officer was charged criminally and one investigation led to a public complaint. In one case, the complainant was charged with public mischief for bringing forward a false claim. The SIU commented several times about the high level of cooperation and professionalism their investigators received from our police officers.

Police Pursuits

The number of police pursuits declined in 2011 from the previous year and once again, none resulted in injury.

In 2011 there were 37 police pursuits, down from 41 the year before. Of the 37 pursuits, 33 involved male drivers (89 per cent) and the top reason for stopping the vehicle was suspected impaired driving (10 of the 37 incidents).

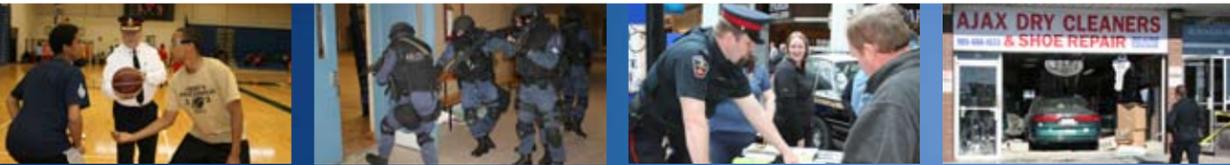

In every incident a debriefing session is held with supervisors to ensure our strict rules for safety were followed.

REGIONAL STATISTICS

- The Homicide Unit investigated two homicides in 2011, down from seven the previous year. Both were cleared by charge. Since our inception in 1974, there have been 156 homicides in Durham Region and our Homicide Unit has solved 147 cases, which represents a 94 per cent clearance rate.
- Our forensics labs remained very busy, completing 1,095 laboratory applications.
- In 2011, we submitted 613 more DNA samples to the national data bank, bringing the total submitted to 5216 samples. The DRPS was second only to the Toronto Police Service in the number of DNA samples collected from convicted offenders.
- The Forensics Investigations Unit processed 8,991 pieces of property – an increase of almost 200 per cent from the previous year. The numbers dramatically increased due to a procedural change in regards to all guns coming through the Forensic Identification office.
- Our Offender Management Unit kept close tabs on high risk offenders in our community, making 143 arrests in 2011 and laying 809 charges. Compliance regarding the local Sex Offender Registry was up to 100 per cent in 2011, from 99 per cent the previous year.
- Our centralized Collision Reporting Centre (CRC) at 650 Rossland Rd. E. in Whitby processed 5,648 incidents in 2011 involving 9,692 drivers. By saving the need for a police officer to be dispatched to these less serious collisions, it saved the DRPS the equivalent of six frontline patrol officers.
- The Sexual Assault/Child Abuse Unit investigated and/or case managed 766 investigations. This figure included 267 sexual offence incidents, 8 serious stranger sexual assaults, 73 cases of child abuse and 60 cases of child pornography. There were 18 investigations of child internet luring in 2011. Many of these investigations involved working in cooperation with the Durham Children's Aid Society. The Sexual Assault Unit also investigated 106 other types of incidents which include such incidents as breaches, criminal harassment and assisting other police services..

- The Drug Enforcement Unit and Guns & Gangs Enforcement Unit together seized $16.8 million in street level drugs in 2011
- The Biker Enforcement Unit and frontline patrol officers kept close tabs on outlaw motorcycle gang members and their associates, performing 550 street checks
- Our Corporate Communications Unit issued 708 formal media releases and our website, www.drps.ca, attracted one million individual visitors and generated an impressive 60 million hits
- Our Auxiliary Unit, made up of specially-trained civilian volunteers, provided an incredible 12,052 hours of assistance in 2011, primarily at 191 different community events
- Nineteen new recruits joined our Auxiliary Unit in 2011, bringing the total strength to 65 by the end of the year
- Seven new Neighbourhood Watch locations were established in 2011 – five in Ajax. This increases the number of NW locations to 136 overall across the Region.

NUCLEAR SECURITY DIVISION

Established in 2001, the Durham Regional Police Service Nuclear Security Division has continued a strong partnership with the Ontario Power Generation. This Unit was formed shortly after the horrific events that took place in the United States on September 11th. Since then its primary function has been committed to the highest level of nuclear and community safety. During 2011 the Unit was under the direction and supervision of 24-year veteran Inspector Todd Rollauer.

Members assigned to the Nuclear Security Division are tactically trained and provide 24/7 armed response capabilities. A designated Training Branch provides continuous development and improvement on the officer's tactical skills. Nuclear Security Division members participated in a variety of realistic and dynamic training scenarios testing weapons proficiency and response throughout the year.

The second phase of the transition was in full swing during 2011. The Nuclear Security Division no longer has command and control over the Pickering Nuclear Facility. That responsibility was taken over by Ontario Power Generation's own Armed Response Team in 2010. A hybrid operational plan was adopted in 2011 where the Durham Regional Police Nuclear Security Division shared the responsibilities of protecting the Darlington Site with the Ontario

Power Generation Armed Security. This partnership was very successful and added another element to the otherwise excellent working relationship between the two organizations.

The final stage of the transition was also established during 2011. Both Ontario Power Generation and the Durham Regional Police came to a mutually agreeable date that would be beneficial to both organizations and conclude a decade-long agreement. April 16th 2012 was set as the final operational working day for the Nuclear Security Division. April 18th 2012 will be the date set for Chief Ewles to turn complete on-site response over to Ontario Power Generation. An immense amount of preparation and planning took place during 2011 to ensure that a seamless transition occurs. Members of the unit took additional training throughout the year to prepare for their return to Policing Operations in the spring of 2012.

Although the threat of an attack remains low at both nuclear power plants, our community and its citizens can be assured that both organizations protect these nuclear facilities with the utmost skill and professionalism.

FINANCIAL ACTIVITY

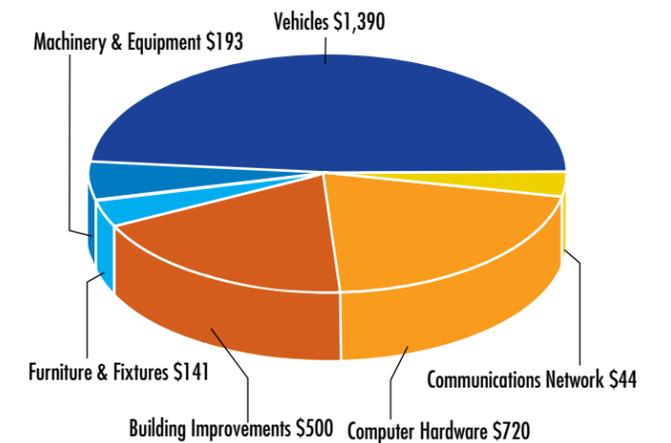

The Financial Services Unit assists in the budget process by working with all units to collect budget information that they then review and consolidate for the entire Service. The consolidated budgets undergo extensive review by the Leadership Group and the Police Services Board and, once approved, are submitted to the Region of Durham for further review by the Finance and Administration Committee and Regional Council.

Financial Services also provides a focal point for the purchase and payment processes for goods and services approved by the budget. Regular review of financial results, reporting to the Police Services Board on financial matters, and a forecast of costs and expenditures are provided by the Financial Services Unit.

DRP Officer Awarded Medal of Bravery

His Excellency the Right Honourable David Johnston, Governor General of Canada, announced in late 2011 that Constable Scott Dargie was among nine recipients of the Medal of Bravery. The Medal of Bravery recognizes acts of bravery in hazardous circumstances.

Cst. Dargie was recognized for his brave actions during a November 2008 incident in Oshawa in which he and citizens Richard Kelly and Kevin Thomas risked their lives in an effort to restrain a violent man in Oshawa. An armed intruder had entered Mr. Kelly's house and attacked his wife and his two youngest sons. Mr. Kelly was stabbed several times as he tried to keep the man away from the other members of the family in the house.

Despite his wounds, Mr. Kelly managed to grab the knife away from the attacker and throw it into the basement. He then stumbled outside, where he fell to the ground. Cst. Dargie arrived first at the scene and was confronted by the attacker, who came at him with a hammer. Cst. Dargie drew his gun and ordered the man to drop his weapon; but the man refused to obey. The man ran inside another house and threatened to strike its elderly occupant.

Cst. Scott Dargie

Cst. Dargie followed him and fired two shots, successfully disabling the assailant. He then dragged the struggling man outside, where, with the help of Mr. Thomas, he was restrained. Sadly, the ordeal cost the lives of Mr. Kelly, his wife and one of their sons.

The Decorations for Bravery were created in 1972 to recognize people who risked their lives to try to save or to protect the lives of others. DRPS congratulates Scott on receiving this prestigious honour.

When seconds matter, 911 Communications staff can be the difference between life and death. Answering 911 calls, dispatching officers or other emergency services to a scene and staying in touch with them are vital to both public and officer safety.

Durham Regional Police Communications members were honoured in June 2011 for their part in saving the lives of heart attack victims at the annual 'Survivor's Day' Awards at Deer Creek Golf and Banquet Facility in Ajax.

Organized by the Central East Prehospital Care Program at Lakeridge Health, the awards were presented to police, fire, and ambulance (EMS) personnel in the region who helped save the lives of heart attack victims during the past year. Many cardiac survivors were at the ceremony to thank their rescuers in person.

Recipients of the award included Communicators Jennifer Allbon, Laurie Arnett, Samantha Bedford, Annamae Bleakley, Megan Broome, Valerie Burns, Janice Byrne, Janis Carvalho, Lisamarie Ferreira, Kimberly Gibbons, Krystie Graham, Tami Hartford, Gayle Hetherington, Michael Hyde, David Hyde, Michelle Judson, Christina Kyc, Cindy Lang, Karelyn LeClair, Tamra Lessard, Stacie Lockwood, Kate Mintz, Adam Moore, Shawn Muir, Shelly Payne, Janice Pettit, Shirley Powell, Elizabeth Powers, Vicky Reid, Stacey Spriggs, Brigid Stewart, Gordon Taschuk, Tracy Tebo, Tracey Thompson, Megan Tilley, James Timmins, Peter Tomlin, Robyn White and Amy Wilson Ross, as well as Registered Nurse Ruth Lawrence.

Responding officers were also recognized for their part in helping to save the lives of heart attack victims: Constables Adam Handscomb, Ryan Huxter, Ryan Jeffs, Nicole Kaiserling, Shaun Kent, Kyle Lloyd, Paul Manning, Sheldon Micallef, Robert Mooers, Kevin Park, Derek Parker, Lee Patterson, Robert Raposo, Dan Riley, Dean Sali, Andrew Scott, Francis Shahshahani, Andrew Siebert, Bill Towler, Corey Walsh, Michael Wesseling, Christopher Winn, Tony Zeppieri, Detective Constable Deanna Hollister, Sergeants Ron Kapuscinski, Thomas Irving, Michael McArthur, Dave Mounstevan, Robert Redford, Denise Wilson and Inspector Mario Lessard.

9th Annual Police Appreciation Night

Members of the Durham Regional Police were singled out Oct. 20, 2011 for their heroism, quick thinking and bravery at the prestigious 9th Annual Police Appreciation Dinner and Awards Night (PADAN).

The theme this year was "A Community Calling" and organizing co-chairs Moe Pringle and Blair McArthur thanked every member of the police service for answering the call, each and every day.

This year, awards were presented to:

- Sergeant John Keating for his outstanding dedication as the Senior Support Coordinator in our Vulnerable Persons Unit. Sgt. Keating has gone above and beyond to help educate and protect seniors in our community.
- Constable Jonathan Prins and Communicators Dave Bezzant, Shellie Taylor and Marci Galley for locating a missing, suicidal female. Their teamwork and quick actions saved her life that night.
- Constable Paul Manning and Detective Constable Wes King for putting themselves in harm's way when attempting to stop a vehicle travelling the wrong way on Highway 115. Initially, believing it was an impaired driver; officers soon discovered the driver was suffering from a medical episode. Amazingly, no one was injured or worse, killed in a collision.

Inspector Charlie Green and Constables Janine Henderson and Stefanie Puckrin were also recognized through video tributes for their dedication and commitment to community initiatives.

One highlight of the night was a speech from nine-year-old Owen Lawrie from St. Paul's Catholic School in Whitby, our Police Chief for a Day, who impressed the crowd with his quick wit and his vast knowledge of policing. Owen was a big hit with the crowd who were impressed by his calm and collected manner despite speaking in front of 625 guests.

Another moving moment during the evening was a video highlighting the DRP members who have served on international peacekeeping missions. The video captured what their experiences have meant to them and why they answered the global call to serve overseas. It was clear from their message that those experiences had an impact on them that will stay with them forever.

Congratulations and thank you to all the recipients for answering the call!
